Origin

Organic Chunmee 9369 hails from tea fields near the Anji Huada Tea Factory in northwest Zhejiang Province. The area is a well-established, forested area, also known for its vast bamboo groves. Chunmee teas get their name from their characteristic eyebrow shape. It was historically one of the earlier green teas available for regular export.

Tasting Notes

Organic Chunmee 9369 expresses much of the mild, herbaceous characteristics that green teas are known for. It yields a bright and clean yellow cup. These qualities make chunmee a popular choice for use in blended and flavored green teas, and as a base for craft kombucha.
